Product description

DC 799 EU Glaze & Go is a modern , neutral , low modular and highly flexible silicone sealant for glazing windows. With its unique formula , the product has excellent adhesion to porous and non-porous surfaces (including wood , PVC, metal and glass) without the need for primers or activators. It is highly resistant to dirt, UV and mold fungi , so why not yellow and does not change color during operation even in harsh weather conditions.

DC 776 WB is a one-component silicone adhesive designed for bonding glass in the window frames - the so-called . Window Bonding . It is easy and fast to use and does not require the use of specialized and expensive equipment . The product has all the properties of silicone and in addition, thanks to its unique formula provides immediate and very high initial adhesion (called High Green Strength) to the surface , so that the window can be subjected to further processes of production after a few seconds after applying the adhesive and stick the glass. The strength of the product to shear forces is comparable structural silicones used in structural glazing , but the application is much simpler and cheaper .
